

Grant Opportunities & News You Can Use

Hello Faculty,

In this newsletter, we'd like to celebrate the end of a particularly productive few weeks of grant submissions; Barnard faculty submitted seven applications in January and early February, totaling almost $6.1M. Congratulations to everyone involved. Applying for grants could be a full-time job—we should know!

Also in this newsletter, we feature not-exactly-internal funding from Columbia University by looking at grants available across Broadway. There are lots, so get out the magnifying glass. Closer to home, the Presidential Research Awards, due March 2, offer $200,000 to be divided into six to twelve faculty research grants. Our Sage Advice is don't forget about internal grants!

Finally for information about recent sponsored research awards, visit the News and Events webpage.

Along with the Presidential Research Awards, Gildersleeve Proposals are due March 2. The last deadline for this school year is March 27th, when applications are due for Barnard Faculty Research Grants and Fund for Innovation in Teaching Grants. For more information, visit the Internal Grants & Support page.

If you would like assistance in finding grants for your upcoming research, please contact Kari Steeves. As always, feel free to send any comments or suggestions to us here.
