

Grant Opportunities & News You Can Use

Hello faculty,

In this newsletter we give our Featured Funder space over to exploring a few organizations who support international collaborations. The list is not exhaustive, so please reach out to us in Sponsored Research for other funding prospects if you have a research project cooking that reaches across international borders.

Our Sage Advice comes from a list of “common mistakes” provided by the National Institutes of Health. We moved News to page four. Please look here for an explanation of changes in the National Science Foundation Division of Chemistry’s Disciplinary Research Program, which now serves as an umbrella to the many opportunities that used to be handled individually at the NSF. Our profiles of opportunities, most due in late October, follow.

Beginning on page twelve, we list all deadlines through January, grouped by discipline.

For deadlines throughout the year, see the Grants Calendar, perpetually in progress, on the Barnard website at External Grant Opportunities. You can download a copy of your very own to sort, search, and filter at will.

If you would like assistance in finding grants for an upcoming project or would like to begin an application process, please contact Kari Steeves. As always, feel free to send any comments, requests, or suggestions to us here.

International Collaboration Funding

When grants from the United States - Israel Binational Science Foundation (BSF) ran across this newsletter writer's desk, it spurred the question, what other organizations provide funding for international teams, especially given the current vogue, and often necessity, for collaborations.

For starters, NCURA is hosting an EU-US Research Connection Symposium in Washington, D.C. on August 8th to "match-make." More information can be found here.

The BSF "regular research grants" are "open to all scientists from Israel and the USA who would like to conduct joint research in a variety of scientific research." They also offer start-up grants for "American and Israeli scientists who are in the initial stages of their independent careers." Lastly, BSF will fund the Israeli counterpart(s) to US researchers who receive funding from the National Science Foundation. <<more>>

The National Academies of Science, Engineering, Medicine administers the Partnership for Enhanced Engagement in Research (PEER) to foot the bill for international collaborators. Several US Government agencies participate, inviting "scientists in developing countries, partnered with USG-supported collaborators, to apply for funds to support research and capacity-building activities on topics with strong potential development impacts." <<more>>

Partner University Fund enables partnerships with researchers in France. "Established in 2007 as a collaboration between the French government, American private donors and the FACE Foundation, the Partner University Fund is dedicated to amplifying the potential of the brightest French and American scholars by supporting educational and research partnerships between higher education institutions in both countries." <<more>>

The Chiang Ching-kuo Foundation for International Scholarly Exchange supports academic exchange between China and researchers around the world, with the "mission of encouraging scholars at academic institutions throughout the world to undertake research projects in the humanities and social sciences that can shed new light on Chinese culture and society, as well as engage in international cooperation and exchange." <<more>>

CRDFGlobal offered grants in 2017 and 2018 to "catalyze new international research collaborations designed to open up new scientific directions for U.S. early career scientists, their South/Southeast Asian, Latin American West/Sub-Saharan African counterparts, and the broader international science community." We will check back in spring of 2019 in the hope these same grants are offered again. <<more>>

Great Britain's Natural Environment Research Council (NERC) Global Partnership Seedcorn Fund runs a "scheme," to use the British term, that partners environmental science researchers from the UK with international collaborators "to forge new partnerships and networks with the best international researchers wherever they are located and seed collaborations that will be sustained beyond the lifetime of the grant.... Supported activities may include, but not limited to, focused programmes of exchange visits, scoping studies and workshops." <<more>>

As always, if none of these opportunities fits your collaboration, shoot Kari an email at ksteeves@barnard.edu, and we'll start digging for something better suited to your needs.

Sage Advice for Competitive Proposals

The National Institutes of Health publishes a helpful list of “Common Mistakes in Writing Applications.” Most of these mistakes extend to proposals submitted to other organizations as well.

First and foremost, all proposals must comply with government regulations. Sponsored Research is happy to work with you to address these potentially disqualifying issues. Information regarding compliance can be found on the Barnard website Important Forms and Information page.

Here are highlights of common problems with each of the five scored review criteria—“Significance, Investigator(s), Innovation, Approach, and Environment.”

Specific Aims

- Applicant goals are either too ambitious, too limited, or too vague.

Significance

- The research is not exciting or of low impact and will not advance science.

Investigators

- The applicant cannot demonstrate adequate expertise or productivity .
- The applicant needs to work with a more senior collaborator.
- Letters from collaborators are missing or inadequate.

Innovation

- The research is either not innovative (similar to Significance) or it is not explained.

Approach

- Either too much detail is provided or too little if the approach are untested.
- The application does not demonstrate expertise with the approach.
- Preliminary data is lacking, not interpretive or is “correlative or descriptive.”
- The feasibility is not shown, or the approach does not directly test the hypothesis.
- Alternative models or hypotheses and potential pitfalls are not discussed.
- The research lacks appropriate controls

Environment

- The applicant lacks institutional support, adequate facilities or equipment, or evidence of effective collaboration, if applicable.

Budget issues are the most complex, perhaps not surprisingly, some of which are specific to the NIH. The first easy lesson is use the funder’s format. Other pitfalls are inadequate justification of the budget itself, subawards and consortia, or changes year-to-year.

Lastly, the NIH adds the following in regard to “Rigor and Reproducibility:”

“For all grant applications submitted for the January 26, 2016 due date and beyond new instructions and revised review criteria will focus on four areas deemed important for enhancing rigor and transparency: 1) the scientific premise of the proposed research, 2) rigorous experimental design for robust and unbiased results, 3) consideration of relevant biological variables, and 4) authentication of key biological and/or chemical resources.”

"The NSF 2026 Idea Machine!

The NSF 2026 Idea Machine is a competition to help set the U.S. agenda for fundamental research in science and engineering. Participants can earn prizes and receive public recognition by suggesting the pressing research questions that need to be answered in the coming decade, the next set of "Big Ideas" for future investment by the National Science Foundation (NSF). It's an opportunity for researchers, the public and other interested stakeholders to contribute to NSF's mission to support basic research and enable new discoveries that drive the U.S. economy, enhance national security and advance knowledge to sustain the country's global leadership in science and engineering." Notre Dame Institute for Advanced Study Research Support Fellowship

Deadline: October 16, 2018

"for scholars, artists, and scientists pursuing outstanding research in all disciplines — including the arts, engineering, humanities, law, and formal, natural, and social sciences — with projects that are creative, innovative, or align with the intellectual orientation of the NDIAS. Projects that integrate questions of value, meaning, or purpose in the analyses are encouraged. The Institute seeks applicants with excellent records of accomplishment pursuing fellowships for periods ranging from three weeks to a full academic year." <<more>>

European University Institute Max Weber Programme for Postdoctoral Studies Fellowship

Deadline: October 25, 2018

"The Max Weber Programme is the largest international postdoctoral programme in the Social Sciences and Humanities in Europe. It offers around 50-55 fully funded Fellowships to suitably qualified researchers from anywhere in the world who work in or across the relevant disciplines of the EUI (Economics, History, Law and Social and Political Sciences and their subfields). The working language of the Programme is English.

The aim of the MWP is to provide Fellows with the experience of membership of a vibrant academic community, to which they make a central contribution. It is unique in offering a structured Programme covering all aspects of an academic career, including support for academic writing in English, applying for research grants, the opportunity to teach in some of Europe's leading universities and to develop a strategy for a successful approach to the academic labour market." <<more>>

Hagley Museum & Library Henry Belin Du Pont Research Grants & Exploratory Research Grants

Deadline: October 31, 2018

"Administered by the Center for the History of Business, Technology and Society, Hagley invites serious researchers to apply for one of our grants to defray the costs of an extended stay intended to use our collections.

All grants require applicants to explain how their project will contribute new information to previous scholarship and how Hagley's research materials are pertinent to their project.

Exploratory grants are limited to one week and Henry Belin du Pont research grants may be up to 8 weeks. Researchers who first apply for an exploratory grant may ask for a longer research grant if our collections warrant more attention.

Anyone can apply for one of these research grants, but only advanced graduate students are eligible for our Henry Belin du Pont dissertation grant and the Jefferson Scholars/Hagley Library fellowship. Scholars with a Ph.D. may also apply for a four- or eight-month NEH-Hagley Postdoctoral Fellowship." <<more>>

CRASSH Quentin Skinner Fellowship in Intellectual History

Deadline: October 31, 2018

"This fellowship [in Cambridge, England] is now known as the Quentin Skinner Fellowship in Intellectual History since c1500. Like the Balzan-Skinner scholar the Quentin Skinner fellow will hold a Visiting Fellowship at CRASSH for one term, present the Quentin Skinner lecture, as well as organise and participate in the related symposium." <<more>>

The American School of Classical Studies at Athens Fellowships

Deadline: October 31, 2018

The American School of Classical Studies at Athens "offers two major research libraries: the Blegen, with over 107,000 volumes dedicated to the ancient Mediterranean world; and the Gennadius, with over 146,000 volumes and archives devoted to post-classical Hellenic civilization and, more broadly, the Balkans and the eastern Mediterranean. The School also sponsors excavations and provides centers for advanced research in archaeological and related topics at its excavations in the Athenian Agora and Corinth, and it houses an archaeological laboratory at the main building complex in Athens."

"Postdoctoral scholars and professionals in relevant fields including architecture or art who are US citizens or foreign nationals who have lived in the US for the three years immediately preceding the application deadline. Applicants must already hold their PhD or equivalent terminal degree at the time of application." "NEH Fellows will be expected to reside primarily at the American School of Classical Studies at Athens (though research may be carried out elsewhere in Greece)." <<more>>

National Humanities Center Fellowship

Deadline: October 17, 2018

"The National Humanities Center will offer up to 40 residential fellowships for advanced study in the humanities for the period September 2018 through May 2019. Applicants must have a doctorate or equivalent scholarly credentials.... In addition to scholars from all fields of the humanities, the Center accepts individuals from the natural and social sciences, the arts, the professions, and public life who are engaged in humanistic projects." <<more>>

National Endowment for the Humanities Dialogues of the Experience of War

Deadline: October 24, 2018

"The program supports the study and discussion of important humanities sources about war, in the belief that these sources can help U.S. military veterans and others think more deeply about the issues raised by war and military service. Although the program is primarily designed to reach military veterans, men and women in active service, military families, and interested members of the public may also participate.

The program awards grants of up to $100,000 that will support the convening of at least two discussion programs for no fewer than fifteen participants; and the creation of a preparatory program to recruit and train program discussion leaders (NEH Discussion Leaders).

Discussion programs may take place on college and university campuses, in veterans' centers, at public libraries and museums, and at other community venues." <<more>>

Fitch Foundation Richard L. Binder Award

Deadline: October 25, 2018

"The Richard L. Blinder Award will be presented biennially to an architect or other professional in a related historic preservation field for a proposal exploring architecture and preservation. The proposal may focus on a real project or it may be a polemical exercise; in either case, originality is highly valued. The proposal must advance architectural preservation in the United States. The product can be graphic, text-based or a combination of both and must be able to be shared with the architecture and preservation community. The award is for a sum not to exceed $15,000." <<more>>

Gladys Kriebel Delmas Foundation Awards

Deadline: Rolling

"Humanities Program

The Foundation intends to further the humanities along a broad front, supporting projects which address the concerns of the historical studia humanitatis: a humanistic education rooted in the great traditions of the past; the formation of human beings according to cultural, moral, and aesthetic ideals derived from that past; and the ongoing debate over how these ideals may best be conceived and realized....

Performing Arts Program

The principal mission of the Performing Arts Program is to provide core program and special project support to organizations of quality in the fields of dance, music and theater that perform and produce or present work in New York City....

Research Libraries Program

The Research Libraries Program concentrates primarily in those areas of its founders' interests and aims to be fully complementary to the Foundation's other program areas (i.e., humanities scholarship, performing arts, and Venetian history and culture).

The overall objective of the Research Libraries Program is to improve the ability of research libraries to serve the needs of scholarship in the humanities and the performing arts, and to help make their resources more widely accessible to scholars and the general public....

Venetian Programs

Designed to support historical research on Venice and the former Venetian empire, and the study of contemporary Venetian society and culture, grants are awarded for independent research, for publications assistance, and for the support of institutions engaged in related research programs." <<more>>

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Council on Foreign Relations International Affairs Fellowship

Deadlines: October 31, 2018

"Established in 1967, the International Affairs Fellowship (IAF) is the hallmark fellowship program of CFR. It aims to bridge the gap between the study and making of U.S. foreign policy by creating the next generation of scholar-practitioners. The program offers its fellows the unique chance to experience a new field and gain a different perspective at a pivotal moment in their careers. Academics are thus placed in public service and policy-oriented settings, while government officials are placed in scholarly settings." <<more>>

Russell Sage Foundation Small Grants Program

Deadline: Rolling

"The Russell Sage Behavioral Economics Roundtable offers small grants to support high quality research in behavioral economics and to encourage young investigators to enter this developing field. There are no limitations on the disciplinary background of the principal investigator, and the proposed research may address any economic topic. However, projects must contribute to the Foundation's mission to improve the social and living conditions in the U.S. Interdisciplinary efforts are welcome. Appropriate projects will demonstrate explicit use of psychological concepts in the motivation of the design and the preparation of the results. Experimental projects which do not have substantial behavioral content (such as market experiments testing neoclassical ideas) or substantial economic content (such as psychology experiments with no economic choices or strategic or market implications) will not be funded."

LANGUAGE AND AREA STUDIES

Brandeis University Postdoctoral Fellowship in Israel Studies

Deadline: October 31, 2018

"The Schusterman Center for Israel Studies at Brandeis University invites applications for our Israel Institute Post-doctoral Fellowship in Israel Studies 2018-2019. Priority given to PhDs in Gender Studies, Economics, Politics, Social Sciences, and Theater, Film and Media Studies. The fellow will teach one course per semester in Israel Studies, in the relevant Brandeis department. The fellow is expected to be in residence at Brandeis University, participate actively in the intellectual life of the Schusterman Center for Israel Studies, and present at least one public lecture." <<more>>

Tel Aviv University Visiting Scholars

Deadline: rolling

"Visiting scholars and PhD students from other Israeli or foreign academic institutions have the opportunity to work one-on-one with researchers at the center and utilize its resources to anthropology, sociology, and religion. Applicants must be doctoral candidates or have received a PhD degree. Applicants are responsible for their own funding and housing arrangements. The minimum duration of the affiliation is three months, which can be extended up to one year." <<more>>

STEM (SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, ENGINEERING, AND MATHEMATICS)

National Science Foundation Innovative Technology Experiences for Students and Teachers (ITEST)

Deadline: August 8, 2018

"ITEST is a research and development program that supports projects to promote PreK-12 student interests and capacities to participate in the STEM and information and communications technology (ICT) workforce of the future. The ITEST program supports research on the design, development, implementation, and selective spread of innovative strategies for engaging students in technology-rich experiences that: (1) increase student awareness of STEM occupations; (2) motivate students to pursue appropriate education pathways to STEM occupations; or (3) develop disciplinary-based knowledge and practices, or promote critical thinking, reasoning skills, or communication skills needed for entering STEM workforce sectors. ITEST projects may adopt an interdisciplinary focus that includes multiple STEM disciplines, focus on a single discipline, or focus on one or more sub-disciplines. The ITEST program supports projects that provide evidence for factors, instructional designs, and practices in formal and informal learning environments that broaden participation of students from underrepresented groups in STEM fields and related education and workforce domains. Projects that actively engage business and industry partners to better ensure that PreK-12 experiences foster the knowledge and skill-sets needed for emerging STEM occupations are strongly encouraged." <<more>>

National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Mathematical Sciences

Deadline: September 17, 2018

"The CDS&E-MSS program accepts proposals that confront and embrace the host of mathematical and statistical challenges presented to the scientific and engineering communities by the ever-expanding role of computational modeling and simulation on the one hand, and the explosion in production of digital and observational data on the other. The goal of the program is to promote the creation and development of the next generation of mathematical and statistical theories and tools that will be essential for addressing such issues. To this end, the program will support fundamental research in mathematics and statistics whose primary emphasis will be on meeting the aforementioned computational and data-related challenges. This program is part of the wider Computational and Data-enabled Science and Engineering (CDS&E) enterprise in NSF that seeks to address this emerging discipline." <<more>>

National Science Foundation Division of Chemistry

Deadline: October 1, 2018

“CHE supports a large and vibrant research community engaged in fundamental discovery, invention, and innovation in the chemical sciences. The projects supported by CHE explore the frontiers of chemical science, develop the foundations for future technologies and industries that meet changing societal needs, and prepare the next generation of chemical researchers.

Some of the areas supported by CHE include:

- designing, synthesizing and characterizing new molecules, surfaces, and nanostructures - especially those with a focus on sustainability;
- increasing our fundamental understanding of molecules and their chemical transformations;
- developing new tools for chemical discovery, including those in data discovery science where increasing volumes and varieties of data are harnessed to advance innovation;
- determining structure-function relationships in biological systems and contributing to our understanding of the fundamental rules of life;
- observing, manipulating, and controlling the behavior of matter and energy in nanometer dimensions such as the quantum regime;
- understanding chemical processes in the environment;
- enabling next-generation technologies in sensing, computing, modeling, and communications; and
- solving complex chemical problems by the development of new theories, computations, and tools, including the synergistic combination of multiple types of instruments.”

National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Materials Research

Deadline: October 15, 2018

"Advanced computational infrastructure and the ability to perform large-scale simulations and accumulate massive amounts of data have revolutionized scientific and engineering disciplines. The goal of the CDS&E program is to identify and capitalize on opportunities for major scientific and engineering breakthroughs through new computational and data analysis approaches. The intellectual drivers may be in an individual discipline or they may cut across more than one discipline in various Directorates. The key identifying factor is that the outcome relies on the development, adaptation, and utilization of one or more of the capabilities offered by advancement of both research and infrastructure in computation and data, either through cross-cutting or disciplinary programs. National Institutes of Health, The Health of Sexual and Gender Minority (SGM) Populations R21 and R03

Deadline: October 16, 2018

"The National Institutes of Health (NIH) is committed to supporting research that will increase scientific understanding of the health status of diverse population groups and thereby improve the effectiveness of health interventions and services for individuals within those groups. Priority is placed on understudied populations distinctive health risk profiles. This funding opportunity announcement (FOA) focuses on sexual and gender minority (SGM) populations, including lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex populations. National Science Foundation Paleo Perspectives on Climate Change

Deadline: October 20, 2018

"The goal of research funded under the interdisciplinary P2C2 solicitation is to utilize key geological, chemical, atmospheric (gas in ice cores), and biological records of climate system variability to provide insights into the mechanisms and rate of change that characterized Earth's past climate variability, the sensitivity of Earth's climate system to changes in forcing, and the response of key components of the Earth system to these changes.

Important scientific objectives of P2C2 are to: 1) provide comprehensive paleoclimate data sets that can serve as model test data sets analogous to instrumental observations; and 2) enable transformative syntheses of paleoclimate data and modeling outcomes to understand the response of the longer-term and higher magnitude variability of the climate system that is observed in the geological and cryospheric records." <<more>>

National Science Foundation Division of Physics Investigator-Initiated Research Projects

Deadline: October 25, 2018

"The Division of Physics (PHY) supports physics research and the preparation of future scientists in the nation's colleges and universities across a broad range of physics disciplines that span scales of space and time from the largest to the smallest and the oldest to the youngest. The Division is comprised of disciplinary programs covering experimental and theoretical research in the following major subfields of physics: Accelerator Science; Atomic, Molecular and Optical Physics; Computational Physics; Elementary Particle Physics; Gravitational Physics; Integrative Activities in Physics; Nuclear Physics; Particle Astrophysics; Physics of Living Systems; Plasma Physics (supported under a separate solicitation); and Quantum Information Science." <<more>>

Supported research includes contributions to broad theoretical advances as well as model building and applications to experimental programs at facilities such as the Relativistic Heavy Ion Collider (RHIC) and Jefferson Laboratory, and to astrophysical phenomena. This includes formulating new approaches for theoretical, computational, and experimental research that explore the fundamental laws of physics and the behavior of physical systems; formulating quantitative hypotheses; exploring and analyzing the implications of such hypotheses analytically and computationally; and interpreting the results of experiments. - December 15 – Gruber Foundation Genetics Prize
- January 23 – National Science Foundation Environmental Biology
- January 23 – National Science Foundation Long Term Research in Environmental Biology

Chemistry

Active funding opportunities for Chemistry from the National Science Foundation can be found here.

- August 14 – National Science Foundation Centers for Chemical Innovation Phase I and Phase II
- September 30 – National Science Foundation proposals for Chemical Catalysis (CAT); Chemical Structure, Dynamics and Mechanisms-A (CSDM-A); Chemical Structure, Dynamics and Mechanisms -B (CSDM-B); Chemical Theory, Models and Computational Methods (CTMC); and Chemical Synthesis (SYN)
- October 19 – American Chemical Society Undergraduate New Investigator
- October 19 – American Chemical Society Undergraduate Research
- October 31 – National Science Foundation proposals for Chemical Measurement and Imaging (CMI); Chemistry of Life Processes (CLP); Environmental Chemical Sciences (ECS); and Macromolecular, Supramolecular and Nanochemistry (MSN)
- November 1 – American Chemical Association/The Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation Award for Encouraging Women into Careers in the Chemical Sciences
- December 31 – American Association for Clinical Chemistry Outstanding Scientific Achievement Awards
- Rolling deadline – American Chemical Society Community Recognition Grants
- Rolling deadline – Chemical Heritage Foundation Travel Grants
- Rolling – National Science Foundation Catalysis

Engineering

- July 19 – National Science Foundation Career Awards -- Engineering
- August 31 – Engineering Information Foundation Women in Engineering Grant Program
- August 31 – National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Astronomical Sciences
- October 31 – National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Chemistry, Chemical Measurement and Imaging
- October 31 – National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Materials Research
- December 6 – National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering

Division of Physics

December 9 – National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering
Division of Mathematical Sciences

Health and Medicine

October 16 – National Institutes of Health, The Health of Sexual and Gender Minority (SGM)
Populations R21 and R03

November 6 – National Institutes of Health Research Education Program, National Institute of Allergy and infectious Diseases

November 6 – Pershing Square Sohn Prize for Young Investigators in Cancer Research

November 15 – National Science Foundation Ecology and Evolution of Infectious Diseases

January 8 – National Institutes of Health Ethical Issues on Research on HIV/AIDS and its Co-Morbidities

Rolling deadline – Robert Wood Johnson Evidence for Action (E4A): Investigator-Initiated Research to Build a Culture of Health

Rolling deadline – Simons Foundation Autism Research Initiative Explorer Award

Rolling deadline – New York Stem Cell Foundation Investigator Awards

Mathematics and Physics

September 5 – National Science Foundation Probability

September 15 – National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering in Mathematical and Statistical Sciences (CDS&E-MSS)

September 25 – National Science Foundation Combinatorics

September 25 – National Science Foundation Foundations

September 28 – Simons Foundation Fellows Program

October 25 – National Science Foundation Division of Physics Investigator-Initiated Research Projects

October 25 – National Science Foundation Experimental Elementary Particle Physics

October 31 – Simons Foundation Math+X Investigators

November 15 – National Science Foundation Astronomy and Astrophysics Grants

January 15 – Institute for Advanced Study Park City Mathematics Institute Summer Research Session

January 17 – American Physical Society Congressional Science Fellowships

January 31 – Simons Foundation Collaboration Grants for Mathematicians

Rolling deadline – National Science Foundation Conferences and Workshops in the Mathematical Sciences

Rolling – National Science Foundation Fluid Dynamics

Rolling deadline – Simons Foundation Targeted Grants in Mathematics and Physical Sciences

Psychology and Neuroscience

July 16 – National Science Foundation Developmental and Learning Sciences

September 30 – American Psychological Foundation Walfish Grants Program

November 1 – American Psychological Association Carmi Harari Early and Mid-Career Awards

November 1 – American Psychological Foundation APA Travel Grants for US Psychologists to Attend
International Conferences

November 7 – National Institutes of Health Blueprint for Neuroscience Research

- November 17 – American Psychiatric Association Kempf Fund Award
- November 27 – National Science Foundation Collaborative Research in Computational Neuroscience
- December 1 – Austen Riggs Center Erikson Scholar Program
- December 31 – American Psychological Foundation Dr. Rosalee G. Weiss Lecture for Outstanding Leaders in Psychology
- December 31 – American Psychological Foundation Pearson Early Career Grant
- January 4 – Brain Research Foundation Fay/Frank Seed Grant
- January 8 – American Psychological Association APA Congressional Fellowship Program
- January 8 – McKnight Foundation Scholars Award

LIBRARY SCIENCE

- September 1 and February 1 -- Institute of Museum and Library services National Leadership Grants for Libraries
- September 15 -- OCLA/ALISE Library and Information Science Research Grant Program
- January 6 – American Library Association Reference and User Services Gale Cengage History Research and Innovation Award
