

Grant Opportunities & News You Can Use

Hello, faculty,

I hope you are managing to squeeze something like a break into your summer, even if travel is limited.

We are back this month with a new issue of the Grant Opportunities Newsletter. For our Featured Funder, we get into one of the more scandalous stories we’ve covered—J.P. Getty, of the Getty Foundation and Getty Oil. There’s kidnapping, blackmail, and a severed ear (and not Van Gogh’s.) For our Sage Advice column, we are continuing our focus on the services our team can provide you with the question, “What Can Institutional Funding Do for You?”

We have a few news stories, including two about the new head of the NSF, who is apparently the last optimistic man in America, if you believe the article.

After that, be sure to check out upcoming grant opportunities. There are a lot highlighted this month that are coming up in November and December. For our humanists and social scientists, take a look at the application for the “Woodrow Wilson\* National Fellowship Foundation Mellon Emerging Faculty Leaders Award,” for faculty who have passed their third-year review.

Internal grant deadlines have yet to be announced for the forthcoming year, but we will let you know when that information becomes available. As always, if you need assistance finding grants or beginning an application, please feel free to email any of the members of the Institutional Funding and Sponsored Research team.

Featured Funder

The Getty Foundation

Anyone wealthy enough to start a foundation is bound to have a somewhat interesting life story, but their stories are rarely as cinematic as Jean Paul Getty's, the founder of The Getty Foundation and the subject of today's Featured Funder. Getty was born in Minnesota in 1892 to pious, teetotaler parents. When he was 10, his father bought the mineral rights to 1,100 acres of land in Oklahoma. The land had oil and within a few years, the family had grown rich from the 100,000 barrels of crude oil their wells produced per month. The young Getty took advantage of his family's wealth to pursue education in the most elite institutions of Europe. A polyglot, he learned French, German, Italian fluently and became conversationally proficient in Spanish, Greek, Arabic and Russian.

Arabic would prove helpful as he entered the family oil business and expanded into the Middle East, but not as helpful as the $10,000 his father gave him upon graduation to expand the family's holdings in Oklahoma. He struck oil almost immediately and within a year was a millionaire. Success followed success, and wife followed wife for Getty (each new one staying the same age, as he grew older).

Getty might have just been remembered as another millionaire with a weakness for young wives, if it hadn't been for a scandal that struck in 1973, when he was 80. Kidnappers contacted the family, claiming they had Getty's footloose teenaged grandson, John Getty III and asking for $17 million. Getty was half-convinced that the whole affair was a hoax designed by his grandson to con money out of the family and had grown notoriously tight-fisted besides, so he refused. The kidnappers countered by mailing John Getty III's ear to the family. Reluctantly, Getty agreed to ransom, but refused to pay more than $2.2 million—the maximum amount that was tax deductible. He lent the remaining $800k to his son at 4% interest. The kidnappers returned John Getty III, drunk and suffering from a raging infection.

Three years later J.P. Getty died and left 1.2 billion dollars to the Getty Trust. Today the Getty Trust operates the Getty Museum, the Getty Research Institute, and the Getty Conservation Institute, all in Los Angeles. The Getty Research Institute offers a range of fellowships and grants for scholars of all disciplines interested in art or the holdings of the Getty.

Postdoctoral Fellowships “are intended for emerging scholars [who received their degrees after September 1, 2016 to complete work on projects related to the Getty Research Institute's annual research theme. Recipients are in residence at the Getty Research Institute or Getty Villa, where they pursue research projects, complete their dissertations, or expand dissertation for publication. Funding: $35,000. Deadline: October 1, 2020

Getty-ACLS Postdoctoral Fellowships are run by the ACLS, but funded by Getty. “These fellowships are intended to provide early career scholars from around the world with time to undertake research and/or writing for projects that will make substantial and original contributions to the understanding of art and its history.” Funding: $60,000 Deadline: October 28, 2020

GRI-NEH Postdoctoral Fellowship is “made possible through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities \(NEH\).” Funding: $45,000 for nine months. Deadline: October 1, 2020.

Getty Scholar Grants are available to “established scholars, or writers who have attained distinction in their fields. Recipients are in residence at the Getty Research Institute or Getty Villa, where they pursue their own projects free from academic obligations, make use of Getty collections...and participate in the intellectual life of the Getty.” Funding: $65,000. Deadline: October 1, 2020.

Sage Advice for Competitive Proposals

What Can Institutional Funding Do for You?

We talked in June about all the services our Sponsored Research team can offer, from copyediting, to prospect research, to budget building, to submission help. This month, I want to talk about Institutional Funding, the other half of our team. If Sponsored Research helps with individual research grants, Institutional Funding is there for the curricular and co-curricular projects that span multiple faculty, departments, and centers, often involving faculty-staff collaboration. Nearly every big Barnard program you can think of, like the Summer Research Institute or Barnard Engages, involved the Institutional Funding team at some point. To give you a sense of the sorts of projects we support, in the past year we have worked on grants for the following projects:

- Programs in support of STEM students, such as \(SP\)<sup>2</sup>, the Beckman Scholars Program, the Clare Boothe Luce Scholars Program, and the Con Edison Scholars.
- CORE USA, a program to reform the traditional economics curriculum in collaboration between Barnard economists and their UK colleagues, who originated the program
- Support for HEOP students (Higher Education Opportunity Program \(HEOP\), A New York State program for “economically and educationally disadvantaged” students entering college.”)
- Laptops for students sent home because of COVID-19 who lacked resources of their own
- Grants for the Digital Humanities Center, Center for Engaged Pedagogy, and the Athena Center
- All of the CARES Act funding

As you can see, there is a huge range of programs here, so let’s talk about questions you might have.

How does Institutional Funding decide which projects to work on?

Institutional projects are generated by faculty, staff, or some combination thereof in response to College needs and priorities, and in conversation with the Provost. Usually, faculty or staff approach us with something they would like to find funding for, or maybe even a foundation or grant program that they have identified as a promising lead. If we know that you are looking, we can send opportunities. We are there to help develop and support projects you are already interested in pursuing.

Where do you find funding for a big institutional initiative?

Most of our work involves foundations, especially when it comes to faculty projects. We also help with applications to federal programs, like the NEH, and occasionally we work with corporations (though corporations are often better suited to working with Beyond Barnard to help place students in internships and jobs.) We tend not to work with individual donors.

What can Institutional Funding do to help me?

All sorts of things! You have to bring the scholarly substance, but other than that, we can:

- Find funding prospects and make connections with other potential partners within the College
- Edit or even draft a proposal
- Help with the budget
- Help you strategize about approaching program officers, or even sit in on phone calls with them
- Survey the secondary literature on topics like pedagogy
- Help with reporting

Don’t worry if you’re still not sure whether your project belongs to Sponsored Research or Institutional Funding. We all work together, so if you email any of us, we’ll figure out where it belongs.

New Director Takes the Helm at National Science Foundation

By NSF Staff, Posted on June 23, 2020

“Following in the footsteps of many great science and engineering leaders before him, Sethuraman Panchanathan has been officially appointed and begins work today as the National Science Foundation's 15th director, sharing his vision for his six-year term and promising a continued push for inclusiveness in science and engineering.”

A call for stimulating diversity in brain research

Posted on July 10, 2020 by NIH staff.

“Neuroscience is one of the fastest growing fields and demonstrates the impact that our large scientific community could make in prioritizing equity and inclusion throughout science. A new editorial in Neuron discusses strategies at multiple levels where opportunities and interventions could be implemented to enhance neuroscience workforce diversity and provides an overview of programs at the National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke (NINDS), part of the National Institutes of Health, that seek to address this issue.

“The number of researchers from underrepresented groups decreases along the academic career pathway. NINDS support is available for these researchers at career transitional points, where barriers are often present. This support is not only in the form of research grants, but also in networking opportunities and mentorship programs.”

Experimental COVID-19 vaccine safe, generates immune response

Posted by NIH Staff on July 14, 2020.

“An investigational vaccine, mRNA-1273, designed to protect against SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19), was generally well tolerated and prompted neutralizing antibody activity in healthy adults, according to interim results published online today in The New England Journal of Medicine. The ongoing Phase 1 trial is supported by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), part of the National Institutes of Health. The experimental vaccine is being co-developed by researchers at NIAID and at Moderna, Inc. of Cambridge, Massachusetts. Manufactured by Moderna, mRNA-1273 is designed to induce neutralizing antibodies directed at a portion of the coronavirus “spike” protein, which the virus uses to bind to and enter human cells.” <<more>>

NIH researchers generate complete human X chromosome sequence

Posted by NIH Staff on July 14, 2020.

“Researchers at the National Human Genome Research Institute (NHGRI), part of the National Institutes of Health, have produced the first end-to-end DNA sequence of a human chromosome. The results, published today in Nature, show that generating a precise, base-by-base sequence of a human chromosome is now possible, and will enable researchers to produce a complete sequence of the human genome.” <<more>>

From AAAS, by Jeffrey Mervis. Posted July 6, 2020.

“The new director of the National Science Foundation (NSF), Sethuraman “Panch” Panchanathan, is familiar with the dark clouds over the agency. His boss, President Donald Trump, keeps proposing big cuts to NSF's budget. Two recent executive orders on immigration make it harder for foreign scientists—who make up a sizeable share of the U.S. research enterprise—to enter the country. In Congress, Democrats and Republicans alike have lambasted NSF and other research agencies for not doing more to stop the Chinese government from stealing federally funded technology. New cases of sexual harassment within the academic research community that NSF funds seem to pop up weekly, and the growing national debate over racial inequities has highlighted the chronic underrepresentation of minorities and women in science.

But those problems are no match for his relentless optimism, expressed in his first public interview since taking office on 23 June. Speaking remotely with Science last week in advance of his move to the Washington, D.C., area, the Indian-born computer scientist was unabashedly upbeat about the future of U.S. academic research—where he has spent most of his career—and about NSF's role in supporting that community." ### Misconduct Allegations push psychology hero off his pedestal

From AAAS Science Magazine by Cathleen O'Grady. Posted on July 15, 2020

"One of Anthony Pelosi's most ambitious projects was on the back burner for more than 2 decades. In the early 1990s, Pelosi, a psychiatrist at Priory

Hospital Glasgow, published two extensive critiques of the work of Hans Eysenck, a giant of 20th century psychology. Eysenck's papers contained questionable data and results so dramatic they beggared belief, Pelosi concluded. His critiques, and those by several others, were widely discussed in the field, but never led to formal investigations. Buried by the demands of clinical practice, research, and a young family, Pelosi never found the time to continue his effort. No one, he says, "picked up the baton."

More than a quarter-century later, Eysenck, who was celebrated for his theories of personality and individual differences, is finally falling from his pedestal. Last week, the International Journal of Social Psychiatry and the Journal of the Royal Society of Medicine issued expressions of concern for seven of his papers. Other journals have issued 64 such statements, as well as 14 retractions, over the past 6 months." <<more>>

Research Grant for Pandemic Preparedness

Deadline: August 31, 2020

The threat from newly emerging viral infections is one of the top global challenges for humanity. The recent COVID-19 pandemic shows that pandemic preparedness and having the right products and technology to fight infectious diseases with epidemic and pandemic potential is of utmost importance. It is required to act quickly to limit further substantial damages to society, economy and ecology. Project proposals will be considered that leverage modern technologies to create new breakthrough solutions to be more prepared for pandemic outbreaks or work towards existing solutions that could help to fight emerging viral infections.” <<more>>

Clinical Trial Planning: Therapeutic/Indication Pairing Strategies

Deadline: October 16, 2020

“The purpose of this FOA is to support clinical trial planning for studies that will evaluate a therapeutic/indication pair for drug repurposing. The repurposing hypothesis should be generated using a developed method that is publicly available. Examples include independent crowdsourcing strategies, or use of computational algorithms. The clinical trial planning phase is to allow time and support for the complete planning, design, and preparation of all the documents and development of other essential elements necessary to enhance the probability of being able to achieve enrollment goals and determine a definitive outcome for Phase I and Phase II clinical trials for a new therapeutic use. It is intended that results obtained from this FOA could lead to subsequent implementation of clinical trials. It is expected that all assets investigated will have completed a Phase I trial by the time an award is made under this FOA. This initiative will support a planning period for a new hypothesis-driven and milestone-defined Phase I (if necessary) and/or planning for a Phase II clinical trial for a new therapeutic use. Funds provided by NCATS may only be used to support planning of phase III clinical trial activities, but not the phase III trial itself except in the case of a rare disease or condition that meets certain criteria.” <<more>>

Rapid Grants: Provisioning Advanced Cyberinfrastructure to Further COVID-19 Research

Deadline: Rolling

“Through this DCL, the Office of Advanced Cyberinfrastructure (OAC) within the Directorate for Computer and Information Science and Engineering is inviting RAPID proposals and supplemental funding requests to existing awards that address COVID-19 challenges through data and/or software infrastructure development activities. Such activities would be funded by the Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering \(CDS&E\) program or the Cyberinfrastructure for Sustained Scientific Innovation \(CSSI\) program.” <<more>>

Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation
COVID-19 Therapeutics Accelerator

Deadline: Rolling

“The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, Wellcome, and Mastercard today committed up to $125 million in seed funding to speed-up the response to the COVID-19 epidemic by identifying, assessing, developing, and scaling-up treatments. The partners are committed to equitable access, including making products available and affordable in low-resource settings. The COVID-19 Therapeutics Accelerator will play a catalytic role by accelerating and evaluating new and repurposed drugs and biologics to treat patients with COVID-19 in the immediate term, and other viral pathogens in the longer-term. Currently there are no broad-spectrum antivirals or immunotherapies available for the fight against emerging pathogens, and none approved for use on COVID-19.” <<more>>

Advancing Informal STEM Learning

Deadline: November 6, 2020

“The Advancing Informal STEM Learning (AISL) program seeks to advance new approaches to and evidence-based understanding of the design and development of STEM learning opportunities for the public in informal environments; provide multiple pathways for broadening access to and engagement in STEM learning experiences; advance innovative research on and assessment of STEM learning in informal environments; and engage the public of all ages in learning STEM in informal environments.” <<more>>

Blavatnik Family Foundation
US National Awards

Deadline: November 13, 2020

“The Blavatnik National Awards honor America’s most innovative young faculty-rank scientists and engineers. These awards celebrate the past accomplishments and future potential of young faculty members working in the three disciplinary categories of Life Sciences, Physical Sciences & Engineering, and Chemistry. Every year, one Blavatnik National Awards Laureate in each disciplinary category will receive $250,000 in unrestricted funds, and additional nominees will be recognized as Finalists.” <<more>>

American Psychological Foundation
APA Travel Grants for US Psychologists to Attend International Conferences

Deadline: November 15, 2020

“This award provides a limited number of grants of up to $350 to cover or partially cover conference registration fees at international conferences held outside the United States. Only APA and APAGS members living in the U.S. are eligible.” <<more>>

National Science Foundation
Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Astronomical Sciences

Deadline: November 16, 2020

“Advanced computational infrastructure and the ability to perform large-scale simulations and accumulate massive amounts of data have revolutionized scientific and engineering disciplines. The goal of the CDS&E program is to identify and capitalize on opportunities for major scientific and engineering breakthroughs through new computational and data analysis approaches.” <<more>>

National Science Foundation
Astronomy and Astrophysics Grants

Deadline: November 16, 2020

“The Astronomy and Astrophysics Research Grants (AAG) Program is an inclusive and flexible funding opportunity to support research in the astronomical sciences. The Program provides individual investigator and collaborative research grants for observational, theoretical, laboratory, and archival data studies in astronomy and astrophysics. The Program also considers proposals for projects and tools that enable or enhance astronomical research. Proposals may span multiple disciplines and/or areas of study and may utilize multiple techniques.” <<more>>

National Science Foundation
Ecology and Evolution of Infectious Diseases

Deadline: November 18, 2020

“The multi-agency Ecology and Evolution of Infectious Diseases program supports research on the ecological, evolutionary, and social drivers that influence the transmission dynamics of infectious diseases. The central theme of submitted projects must be the quantitative or computational understanding of pathogen transmission dynamics. The intent is discovery of principles of infectious disease transmission and testing mathematical or computational models that elucidate infectious disease systems. Projects should be broad, interdisciplinary efforts that go beyond the scope of typical studies.” <<more>>

Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Physics

Deadline: November 16, 2020

“Advanced computational infrastructure and the ability to perform large-scale simulations and accumulate massive amounts of data have revolutionized scientific and engineering disciplines. The goal of the CDS&E program is to identify and capitalize on opportunities for major scientific and engineering breakthroughs through new computational and data analysis approaches. Physics CDS&E proposals may address science topics and goals within the scope of the domains supported by the Division of Physics.” <<more>>

National Science Foundation/Intel
Partnership on Foundational Microarchitecture
Research

Deadline: November 20, 2020

“The confluence of transistor scaling, increases in the number of architecture designs per process generation, the slowing of clock frequency growth, and recent success in research exploiting thread-level parallelism (TLP) and data-level parallelism (DLP) all point to an increasing opportunity for innovative microarchitecture techniques and methodologies in delivering performance growth in the future. The NSF/Intel Partnership on Foundational Microarchitecture Research will support transformative microarchitecture research targeting improvements in instructions per cycle (IPC).” <<more>>

National Science Foundation
Collaborative Research in Computational
Neuroscience

Deadline: “waiting for new publication,” previous deadline was November 25, 2019

“Through the CRCNS program, the National Science Foundation (NSF), the National Institutes of Health (NIH), the German Federal Ministry of Education and Research (Bundesministerium für Bildung und Forschung, BMBF), the French National Research Agency (Agence Nationale de la Recherche, ANR), the United States-Israel Binational Science Foundation (BSF), Japan’s National Institute of Information and Communications Technology (NICT), and the State Research Agency (Agencia Estatal de Investigación, AEI) and National Institute of Health Carlos III (Instituto de Salud Carlos III, ISCIII), both of Spain, support collaborative activities that will advance the understanding of nervous system structure and function, mechanisms underlying nervous system disorders, and computational strategies used by the nervous system.” <<more>>

National Science Foundation
Division of Physics Investigator-Initiated
Research Projects

Deadline: November 25, 2020

“The Division of Physics (PHY) supports physics research and the preparation of future scientists in the nation’s colleges and universities across a broad range of physics disciplines that span scales of space and time from the largest to the smallest and the oldest to the youngest. The Division is comprised of disciplinary programs covering experimental and theoretical research in the following major subfields of physics: Atomic, Molecular and Optical Physics; Elementary Particle Physics; Gravitational Physics; Integrative Activities in Physics; Nuclear Physics; Particle Astrophysics; Physics at the Information Frontier; Physics of Living Systems; Plasma Physics; and Quantum Information Science.” <<more>>

McKnight Foundation

Technological Innovations in Neuroscience

Deadline: December 2, 2020

“Technological Innovations in Neuroscience Awards support scientists who work on novel and creative approaches to understanding brain function. The program seeks to advance and enlarge the range of technologies available to the neurosciences. It does not support research based primarily on existing techniques.” <<more>>

National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine

Postdoctoral Fellowships

Deadline: December 10, 2020

“Through its Fellowship Programs, the Ford Foundation seeks to increase the diversity of the nation’s college and university faculties by increasing their ethnic and racial diversity, maximize the educational benefits of diversity, and increase the number of professors who can and will use diversity as a resource for enriching the education of all students. Predoctoral, Dissertation, and Postdoctoral fellowships will be awarded in a national competition administered by the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine on behalf of the Ford Foundation.” <<more>>

Gruber Foundation

Cosmology Prize

Deadline: December 15, 2020

“The Cosmology Prize honors a leading cosmologist, astronomer, astrophysicist or scientific philosopher for theoretical, analytical, conceptual or observational discoveries leading to fundamental advances in our understanding of the universe.” <<more>>

American Physical Society

Congressional Science Fellowships

Deadline: December 15, 2020

“Public policy increasingly is determined by technical considerations. A perusal of the daily press — from page one through the health and business sections — illustrates that science is a major component of many issues with which

Congress must grapple: global warming, energy policy, defense technologies, AIDS, pollution, communications technologies, and many, many more.

It is the aim of the APS and AIP in sponsoring these fellowships to provide a public service by making available individuals with scientific knowledge and skills to Members of Congress, few of whom have a technical background.” <<more>>

Gruber Foundation

Neuroscience Prize

Deadline: December 15, 2020

“The Neuroscience Prize honors scientists for major discoveries that have advanced the understanding of the nervous system. The Prize, established in 2004, is an unrestricted cash award of $500,000, a gold medal inscribed with the recipient’s name, and a citation describing the achievement for which the recipient is being honored. It is awarded each year to a person or persons chosen by a distinguished advisory board of neuroscience experts from nominations that are received from around the world.” <<more>>

Rolling—National Speleological Society Research Grants

Rolling—National Science Foundation Environmental Biology

Rolling—National Science Foundation Long Term Research in Environmental Biology

Chemistry

Active funding opportunities for Chemistry from the National Science Foundation can be found here.

September 30—National Science Foundation Division of Chemistry: Disciplinary Research Programs (CHE-DRP)

October 16—National Science Foundation Centers for Chemical Innovation (CCI)

October 31—National Science Foundation Division of Chemistry: Disciplinary Research Programs (CHE-DRP)

November 1—American Chemical Associations/The Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation – Award for Encouraging Women into Careers in the Chemical Sciences

December 31—American Association for Clinical Chemistry Outstanding Scientific Achievement Awards

Rolling deadline—American Chemical Society Community Recognition Grants

Rolling deadline—Chemical Heritage Foundation Travel Grants

Engineering

July 16—National Science Foundation Career Awards -- Engineering

August 31—Engineering Information Foundation Women in Engineering Grant Program

September 15—National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Mathematical Sciences

October 15—National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Materials Research

Deadline Reminders (cont'd)

- October 31—National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Chemistry, Chemical Measurement and Imaging
- November 15—National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Astronomical Sciences
- December 5—National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering Division of Physics

Health and Medicine

- July 1—John and Polly Sparks Foundation
- November 4—Pershing Square Sohn Prize for Young Investigators in Cancer Research
- November 6—Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Health Policy Fellows
- November 20—National Science Foundation Ecology and Evolution of Infectious Diseases
- Rolling deadline—Robert Wood Johnson Evidence for Action (E4A): Investigator-Initiated Research to Build a Culture of Health

Mathematics and Physics

- August 9—National Science Foundation Research Training Groups in the Mathematical Sciences
- September 15—National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering in Mathematical and Statistical Sciences (CDS&E-MSS)
- September 22—National Science Foundation Combinatorics
- September 22—National Science Foundation Foundations
- September 25—National Science Foundation Probability
- September 26—Simons Foundation Fellows Program
- October 1—National Science Foundation Division of Mathematical Sciences Analysis Program
- September 15—National Science Foundation Computational and Data-Enabled Science and Engineering in Mathematical and Statistical Sciences (CDS&E-MSS)
- September 22—National Science Foundation Combinatorics
- September 22—National Science Foundation Foundations
- September 25—National Science Foundation Probability
- September 26—Simons Foundation Fellows Program
- November 1—Institute for Advanced Study Park City Mathematics Institute Summer Research Session
- November 4—NASA Hubble Fellowship Program
- November 15—National Science Foundation Astronomy and Astrophysics Grants
- November 27—National Science Foundation Division of Physics Investigator-Initiated Research Projects
- December 15—Gruber Foundation Cosmology Prize
- December 15—American Physical Society Congressional Science Fellowships
- Rolling deadline—National Science Foundation Conferences and Workshops in the Mathematical Sciences
- Rolling deadline—Simons Foundation Targeted Grants in Mathematics and Physical Sciences
- Various—American Psychological Society Fellows

Psychology and Neuroscience

- July 15—National Science Foundation Developmental Science
- July 15—American Psychological Foundation APA Travel Grants for US Psychologists to Attend International Conferences
- August 13—National Science Foundation Cognitive Neuroscience
- August 15—American Psychiatric Association Kempf Fund Award

Deadline Reminders (cont'd)

- September 15—American Psychological Foundation Dr. Rosalee G. Weiss Lecture for Outstanding Leaders in Psychology
- September 30—American Psychological Foundation Walfish Grants Program
- October 1—Society for the Teaching of Psychology Conference Speak Grant Program
- October 1—American Psychological Foundation Lizette Peterson-Homer Injury Prevention Grant
- October 4—Society of Biological Psychiatry Travel Fellowship Award
- November 1—Society for the Teaching of Psychology STP Early Career Travel Grant Program
- November 1—Society for the Teaching of Psychology Partnerships Small Grant Program
- November 1—American Psychological Foundation Carmi Harari Early and Mid-Career Awards
- November 1—STP Partnerships Small Grant Program
- November 1—Society for the Teaching of Psychology Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL) Research Grant
- November 15—American Psychological Foundation APA Travel Grants for US Psychologists to Attend International Conferences
- November 25—National Science Foundation Collaborative Research in Computational Neuroscience
- December 1—Austen Riggs Center Erikson Scholar Program
- December 2—McKnight Foundation Technological Innovations in Neuroscience
- December 15—Gruber Foundation Neuroscience Prize
- December 31—American Psychological Foundation Pearson Early Career Grant

LIBRARY SCIENCE

- September 1—Institute of Museum and Library services National Leadership Grants for Libraries
- September 15—OCLA/ALISE Library and Information Science Research Grant Program
- September 27—Institute of Museum and Library services National Leadership Grants for Libraries
- Rolling—International Association of Sound and Audiovisual Archives Research Grants
